

M.PHIL. HISTORY

FIRST SEMESTER

Paper - I

Concept of History

Objectives:

This paper deals with the historical development different historical trends such as Greek Historiography, Roman Historiography, Medieval Historiography and other concepts and acquaints the students about historical scholarship.

Learning Outcomes:

The students will have critical understanding of the significance of historical developments. They will be learned the relevance of history to the different time frames of past, present and future.

PAPER - II

RESEARCH METHODOLOGY

Objectives:

This paper has covered the mechanism of collecting different historical sources and recent methodological tools for research by using both Archival and non-archival records.

Learning Outcomes:

The paper will give the students an experience of research and writing reports while preparing the dissertation. The student will be acquainted a wide-ranging idea on the different sources and their mode and different way of interpretation in the process of historical reconstruction.

SECOND SEMESTER

PAPER - III

INDIAN HISTORIOGRAPHY

Objectives:

This paper familiarizes the young researcher to Indian historiographical trends – Ancient, Medieval and Modern- in the larger context and their significance in contemporary history writings. Besides, Odishan Historiography has been introduced to encourage the students for regional history.

Learning Outcomes:

The researcher will be able to narrow down the interest area as well as being introduced to different branches will enable to conceive research from a broader perspective related Indian History in general and Odishan history in particular.